When you visit the Depot Site you will see four separate buildings and a locomotive.

The former records vault building now houses the nonprofit museum.

Historic steam locomotive no.1673 rests track side.
The two-story structure is the main Depot. The lobby, on the first floor, is still a working passenger train lobby.

Outdoors, enjoy the beautifully restored buildings, as well as several interpretive signs, the locomotive no. 1673 and a sculpture of Doc Holiday and Wyatt Earp.
Don’t miss the restored Depot Lobby. This area of the Depot is still a working passenger train lobby and is open to the public.

You’ll find the lobby just like it was in 1942. Notice the beautiful tile work from that same time period.
Beautiful exhibits await you in the museum.
